Siena New York Poll:

At the Start of the 2006 Election Cycle, Spitzer and Clinton Are in Strong Positions Against All Republicans

21 Percent of NYers Volunteer That Spitzer Would Be "Best Person" As Next Governor; Rudy Was Second, At 15%

Loudonville, NY – As the 2006 election cycle begins in earnest – with statewide elections for Governor, United States Senator, Comptroller and Attorney General – Attorney General Eliot Spitzer starts as the clear favorite of New York voters to be the next Governor, and Hillary Clinton starts her re-election effort in a very strong position, according to a new Siena (College) Research Institute poll of New York voters released today.

“With local elections decided, the focus of the political world now turns to 2006, and particularly to the major statewide races. By virtually all accounts, the 2005 elections were a major disappointment for New York Republicans and unfortunately for them, they start 2006 considerably behind the Democrats in the two most important elections – Governor and United States Senator,” said Joe Caruso, Director of Polling for the Siena Research Institute (SRI).

“Eliot Spitzer enjoys a better than two-to-one lead over Tom Golisano, and has a nearly 50 point lead over both former Massachusetts Governor Bill Weld (64-16 percent) and Hudson Valley Assemblyman Patrick Manning (65-17 percent). While Spitzer may yet face a Democratic primary battle, he starts the campaign with two-thirds of New York voters having a favorable opinion of him. And no potential Republican hopeful – other than Rudy Giuliani, who has said he is not running – has been able to keep Spitzer below 50 percent of the vote in a hypothetical match-up,” Caruso said.

Voters were told that Governor Pataki is not seeking a fourth term and were asked, “Who do you think would be the best person to be the next Governor?” Respondents were not provided with any choices.

“The top five people recommended by voters as the best next Governor were Eliot Spitzer (21 percent), Rudy Giuliani (15 percent), Hillary Clinton (8 percent), Tom Golisano (7 percent), and Mike Bloomberg (3 percent),” Caruso said. “Republicans, suburbanites and Catholics prefer Rudy. Democrats, Independents, voters in New York City and upstate, and older voters chose Spitzer. Young voters were tied between Rudy and Hillary.”

“While 39 percent of voters had no opinion on this question, some others getting votes included Nassau County Executive Tom Souzzi, a potential Spitzer challenger in the Democratic primary (5 votes), Andrew Cuomo (3 votes), Bill Clinton (2 votes), and one vote each for Al D’Amato, Freddy Ferrer, Arizona Senator John McCain, and President Abe Lincoln,” Caruso said.

“As the campaign begins, the race for United States Senate is Hillary Clinton’s to lose. She beats Jeanine Pirro nearly two-to-one and (former Yonkers Mayor) John Spencer better than two-to-one. Her favorability rating has been between 58 and 61 percent throughout 2005 and her re-elect number has been between 56 and 60 percent all year as well,” Caruso said. “Hillary beats Pirro by 17 points in the suburbs and 20 points upstate. She is above 50 percent with every demographic group except Republicans.

“New York voters – particularly downstate – are becoming more optimistic about the direction of the state. While 26 percent felt that the state was on the right track and 47 percent felt the state was headed in the wrong direction in March, now 38 percent believe New York is on the right track and 41 percent believe it’s headed in the wrong direction. Upstate, however voters continue to be very negative about the state’s direction (22-52 percent),” Caruso said.

###

This SRI survey was conducted November 9-11, 2005 by telephone calls to 622 New York State registered voters. It has a margin of error of \pm 3.9 percentage points. For more information or comments, please call Joe Caruso, SRI Director of Polling, at 518-783-2901.
